

MAYOR C. M. BULGER RESIGNS.

Resignation Presented to Council Monday Evening.
Wauseon Fire Department Elect The Ex Mayor
an Honorary Member and Present Him With Fine Watch Fob

Last Monday evening Mr. C. M. Bulger was in his place at the council table as Mayor of the Village for the last time, after calling the council to order and presiding during the reading and adoption of the minutes of previous meetings, Mr. Bulger called the president of the council, Mr. Geo. Oakley, to the chair and announced his resignation as Mayor to take effect at once. Mr. Bulger stated that it was with no desire to shift responsibility or from any antipathy to the members of the council but only because of personal affairs which necessitate his leaving town that he had decided to present his resignation and that he experienced some real regret in so doing; he expressed his deep appreciation to the citizens of the village for having conferred upon him the honor of being chosen as Mayor and the expression of the council's personal good will in re-electing him to that office. He expressed his own appreciation of the loyalty of past and present members of the council who have made it possible to put through measures which consideration and discussion had convinced them were for the highest and best interests of the largest number of the people of the community.

He referred to differences of opinion that had been discussed in an amiable manner and satisfactory adjustment and expressed his belief that in view of the serious questions that were now before the council and pressing for solution, that it will be better to withdraw at this time in order that his place may be filled and the necessary readjustments made in order that those who will have to decide these questions may have opportunity for thorough investigation and consideration. Mr. Bulger expressed the hope that whatever the conclusion may be that shall be reached in regard to these serious questions, that the action taken by the council may be for the very best interests of all the people of the town; he urged the council not to fear criticism, to remember that all plans cannot be adopted and to use their own best judgment in acting for the very best interests of all.

Messrs. Overmeyer and Williams were waiting in the council room to notify Mr. Bulger that the firemen who were in session would like to see him in their hall upstairs and to conduct him there. On his arrival in the firemen's meeting Mr. Bulger was unanimously elected an honorary member of the Wauseon Volunteer Fire Department and called upon him for a speech. Following the speech and the presentation of a beautiful Masonic emblem which was a further token of the esteem in which he is held by the members of the fire department. One of the firemen in speaking of Mr. Bulger later said "we never had a Mayor who paid so much attention to the firemen or took more interest in them and mingled in a friendly, helpful way with them as Mayor Bulger."

Mr. Bulger has made a splendid record as Mayor and has given the people fine service as the chief executive, impartial and unprejudiced; he has acted always according to his best judgment for the best interests of the town. He has been genial and courteous to all and has not hesitated to give his personal help whenever and wherever he has seen it was needed. The Village is indebted to him for the services he has rendered.

WAUSEON BOY SCOUT BAND

Many things enter into the making of a live town and Wauseon has these many things. However, there is nothing that puts a town on the map and keeps things moving like a good band. Wauseon has a most unique organization in the Boy Scout Band, there are only a few musical organizations in the United States composed of Boy Scouts only and the Boy Scout Band of our town is an organization that every Wauseon citizen should be proud of. Every one of the forty-seven members are "home grown" Wauseon lads who have the only that in mind of being of service to our town and community and as they grow into young manhood and develop along musical lines it will mean much to the individual young man, much to their home, their church, their town and their community. Everyone should encourage the lads. It requires a great amount of effort, patience and time to master the different instruments and to play in a different location each week, so that all business houses may enjoy the concerts as well as the crowds that assemble every week to enjoy the music.

The band is made up of forty-seven varieties of lads this year as to disposition and temperament, but all of the forty-seven are genuine scouts, kind, helpful, polite and obliging. Eleven different instruments are used and twenty-one different parts are played. The music is a much higher class than rendering last season and the lads are progressing in excellent shape under the leadership of Prof. Gustave Koehler of Toledo.

Following is the personnel of the organization and the instrument used by each scout.

NEW TRADE ROUTES

About the 1st of October an ocean liner is to leave New York on a visit to the principal ports of South and Central America, New Zealand, Australia, China and Japan for the purpose of developing American foreign trade. The ship will be fitted up to exhibit the products of American factories to the best advantage and its personnel will include interpreters and competent salesmen. The voyage will not only serve to acquaint foreign buyers with the quality of American-made goods, but will also gather information as to foreign needs for the benefit of American producers.

The project is typical of Yankee enterprise. With a well directed merchant marine fleet to handle the trade that is sure to come our way, a commanding position for America in the maritime commerce of the world for the future is assured. The steady loss of exports to Europe that will continue while those countries are restoring production once more, means that American goods, heretofore shipped to those markets must find an outlet elsewhere. South America and across the Pacific offer the natural solution of the problem, and it is apparent that our manufacturers are alive to that fact.

OHIO POULTRYMEN MEET

Dr. Kent has spent many years in poultry research and was one of the first men to begin the profitable selection of laying hens and culling flocks. Eleven different institutions are used and twenty-one different parts are played. The music is a much higher class than rendering last season and the lads are progressing in excellent shape under the leadership of Prof. Gustave Koehler of Toledo.

GUilty AS CHARGED INCREASED MOTOR TRANSPORTATION

An indication of the rapid increase in motor truck transportation throughout the country is given by a 24-hour traffic census taken recently by the Travel and Transport Bureau of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co. on the Akron-Cleveland road at Stow Corners, ten miles north of Akron.

The census showed that during the past two years, truck transportation increased 171 per cent. Passenger automobile traffic showed a gain during the same period of 27 per cent while horse drawn vehicle traffic decreased 52.5 per cent. Traffic of all kind increased 45 per cent.

During the 24 hours, 2891 vehicles passed the observation point, including 2033 passenger cars, 798 motor trucks, 15 motor buses and 1313 horses. This compares with 1539 passenger cars in 1918, 295 motor trucks, no buses and 97 horse drawn vehicles.

Eighty railroad freight cars would have been required to move the material and supplies which were carried by motor truck. This presented an annual release of 24,000 freight cars, enough to make up a train 200 miles in length. Among the tonnage carried was bar steel, building block, concrete blocks and farm supplies, food stuffs, hardware, lumber, chemicals, sewer pipe, milk, rums and tires.

More than 100 of the passenger cars which passed the observation point were new machines being driven overland by distributors from the factories. Some of these were enroute to points as distant as Alabama. A large number of new commercial vehicles also passed over the road. If these new machines had been carried by railroad, more than 25 freight or express cars would have been required.

One of the surprising things shown by the census was that traffic along the road never ceased at any time during the day or night. At all hours the big heavy trucks kept rumbling along, carrying materials and supplies to distant cities. The heaviest traffic was between 2 and 7 p. m., an average of four cars passing every minute during that time. The lowest traffic was reached between 2 and 3 a. m. when only five vehicles passed, one passenger car, three loaded five-ton trucks and one loaded three-ton truck.

Harrowing Cleans Up
WEEDY ALFALFA FIELDS
Harrowing alfalfa immediately after the first cutting helps to rid this legume of foxtail and bluegrass as found by tests at the Ohio Experiment Station.

It is necessary, however, to do the harrowing during a dry spell as weeds and grasses merely dug out and rest as far as effectiveness is concerned when alfalfa is harrowed during a rainy season. Hot and dry weather are necessary to kill foxtail and bluegrass after harrowing.

The spring-tooth harrow has been found more practical than a disc as weeds and grasses merely used.

It is often necessary in Ohio to cultivate alfalfa during the first year of its growth, after the second and third crops are harvested to get rid of competing weeds and grasses.
